CLIMATE CAMP

From October 9 - 11th, we invite you to Climate Camp '09.

Three days of sustainable living and community action in Helensburgh, forty minutes south of Sydney on Dharawal land. We'll be near Metropolitan Collieries, Australia's oldest coal mine.

We are parents, youths, locals, and workers who are excited about coming together at Climate Camp '09. We want to protect our precious water catchments from more damage and pollution by coal mining. We know coal is fuelling climate change - together we can begin the transition to a renewable future. People deserve good jobs in clean and safe industries.

Pitch your tent alongside hundreds of others - or stroll in for an afternoon - for great workshops, music, food and positive climate action.

If you're concerned about our future and want to do something about it, Climate Camp is for you. Fed up with government tokenism and corporate spin? Come and see how you can make a real difference.

Climate Camp is for all of us - because when it comes to water, climate and jobs, actions speak louder than words.

Climate change won't just go away until we - that's you and me - get together at Climate Camp '09 with our kids and parents, our neighbours and friends, and begin building solutions together.

We hope you'll join us at Climate Camp '09.
